February 2019 Newsletter

The Scholastic Book Fair is happening again during Parent Teacher Conferences,

Thursday Feb. 7 and Friday Feb. 8. This is the time for you and your kiddos to check out the latest books, gadgets, and really cool erasers! Money raised during book fairs goes towards purchasing new books for the school and the annual Bingo for Books event in the spring.

We need help setting up the day before and selling books both days. If you have an hour or two to spare, sign up online at:

or contact Red Asselin at paulbankspta@gmail.com!

Winter Carnival is coming: February 9 1-3pm. Booths, prizes, fun for the whole family! This is both a great community event and a beneficial fundraiser for us, and is part of Homer's Winter Carnival in February. But we need your help to run booths! Please sign up in your classroom, or contact paulbankspta@gmail.com

Did you miss your chance to get a Paul Banks Peanut school shirt? You have another shot – we will be doing a reorder soon. Contact Susan at smot06@hotmail.com for more information

The third quarter of our After School Program is ongoing. There will be a fourth final quarter happening in March, keep your eyes out for the applications.

School Garden/Greenhouse: We are STILL looking for someone to take over the school garden next year. This is a relatively low time investment with a huge reward, and you will have plenty of help. Contact us at paulbankspta@gmail.com to learn more.

As always, come join us at our monthly meeting to learn about activities, events, and community building opportunities you can take part in throughout the year!

Next meeting: Tuesday Feb. 5th, 6:30-8pm
